

Introduction

This states that a candidate must “Have achieved a nationally recognised qualification at level 2 or above in English/literacy and Mathematics/numeracy.”

Statement of Provisional Results/Certificates

Some individuals have a 'statement of provisional results' document rather than a formal certificate. These statements issued by appropriate awarding bodies are acceptable evidence for Standard 11.

Titles of mathematics and English awards vary across awarding bodies and over time. Mathematics titles included (but were not restricted to) 'applicable mathematics,' 'mathematics and theoretical mechanics,' 'pure mathematics and probability,' 'commercial mathematics,' 'general mathematics,' 'modern mathematics,' 'technical mathematics,' 'mathematics and statistics' and 'mathematical studies.' For the purposes of standard 11 therefore, O-level passes or CSE grade 1 in mathematics or arithmetic or variations thereof are acceptable. However, O-level/CSE subjects with some mathematical components, e.g. business/commercial studies or accountancy, are not acceptable. Similarly, there may be some variation in the actual titles of English awards.

When will I need to provide evidence of meeting standard 11?

Before undertaking a preparation course, you must be judged to be meeting all of the standards, including standard 11. A candidate should not have any gaps in their knowledge or experience at this stage as they will be preparing for their actual assessment. Candidates are required to send copies of their certificates to their preparer and to bring their original level 2 qualification certificates to the first preparation session if it is face-to-face, or to have their qualifications verified by a member of SLT if attending an online session. Preparers will provide advice about this process.

Regional providers of assessment (RPAs) will also want to be confident that you have acceptable literacy and numeracy qualifications before the school assessment visit is arranged. Your provider of preparation (PoP) will send the RPA copies of your certificates on your behalf.

If you feel that you can demonstrate all of the standards except standard 11, you will need to achieve appropriate qualifications before applying for preparation. Your school or LA may be able to assist you with this.

I was educated outside the UK. Are my qualifications acceptable?

The National Information Centre for Global Qualifications and Skills for the United Kingdom (UK ENIC) provides a service for individuals seeking information on comparability between international and UK academic qualifications. UK Enic is only able to assess overseas awards which constitute national standards in the country of origin. A letter of comparability from UK Enic together with the original certificate is acceptable evidence for standard 11. You can visit: www.enic.org.uk for further information.

I can't find my certificates. What should I do?

If you are unable to find your original certificates you can apply to your awarding body for replacement certificates or a confirmation of results letter. Awarding bodies normally make a charge for this service.

Some older examination boards may have been subsumed within current GCSE awarding bodies. The table below lists current GCSE awarding bodies together with a list of former examination boards whose records they hold. Further information can be found at Get a replacement exam certificate: Who to contact - GOV.UK \(www.gov.uk\).

Alternatively, you may be able to access your Unique Learner Record at Using the learning records service \(LRS\) for learning providers and local authorities - GOV.UK. This should list record of all qualifications undertaken along with their grades and is acceptable as evidence.

I went to school in Scotland. What about me?

Qualifications in Scotland are regulated by the Scottish Qualifications Authority (SQA). The four countries of the United Kingdom recognise each other's nationally accredited qualifications.

I would like to progress to ITT. Is there anything I should be aware of?

Some HLTA candidates may wish to progress to qualified teacher status in the future. All entrants to ITT will need to demonstrate the achievement of a standard equivalent to a GCSE pass at grade C/4 in English and mathematics, and the same in science for those training to teach in Primary or KS2/3 (7–14-year-olds). Their chosen provider will provide information on the requirements for specific courses.

Key skills and the certificates in adult literacy/numeracy would not normally meet the entry requirements for ITT. This is because there is not sufficient breadth of subject coverage in these qualifications. Candidates considering progression to QTS would therefore need to demonstrate a wider knowledge than that required to meet HLTA standard 11. HNAP tests (Pass) are only acceptable for entry onto a Preparation Course for HLTA Status.

I have checked my qualifications against this guidance, but I am still unsure if what I have is sufficient for Standard 11. What can I do?

If you are still unsure, you can contact your Regional Provider of Assessment for further guidance. Details are available on the website www.hlta.org.uk

Where can I find out about gaining level 2 qualifications?

Your school, local authority or local FE college may be able to signpost you to local providers of level two qualifications. You may also find a local provider through an online search for functional skills testing (<https://skillsforlife.campaign.gov.uk>) Your Provider of HLTA Preparation (PoP) may be able to signpost you to local provision.

We understand there is a wide variation in provision across the country. We advise you explore several options before choosing the most convenient and appropriate.
